

McKEOWN NEVER AGAIN TO TOP TIMBERS IN CONTEST

Lieut. John L. McKeown, whose ability as a high hurdler at the University of Illinois in 1915 ranked him as not far behind Bob Simpson as one of the best hurdlers of that season, will never clear an obstacle again. McKeown won his commission in the air service a year or more ago and was assigned to overseas duty. Recently while making a flight near Paris he fell some three hundred feet in his machine and his injuries were such that it was necessary to amputate one of his legs, while the other leg has become paralyzed.

COLDS AND FLU BEST TREATED WITH CALOTABS

The New Perfected Calomel That Is Free From Nauseating and Salivating Effects.

Physicians or druggists will tell you that the best thing in the world for a cold, gripe or influenza, is Calotabs, the perfected calomel, that is free from nauseating and salivating effects. Doctors have learned that other laxatives are uncertain and unsatisfactory for cold and gripe, but they can count on Calotabs, the new calomel, that has all the liver benefits and none of the stinging, to thoroughly arouse the liver and put the system in ideal condition to throw off the cold and prevent influenza and pneumonia.

The best time to take Calotabs is at the first sign of a cold. If you take it at the beginning you can cure a cold over night. One Calotab on the tongue at bed time with a swallow of water—that's all. In the morning you wake up feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Your cold has vanished and you may congratulate yourself that you have possibly prevented serious complications, for physicians tell us that neglected colds number their victims by the millions. For your protection, Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. Your druggist will supply you, and your money given back promptly and cheerfully if you are not delighted with this new form of calomel.

$1,200 MINIMUM URGED IN SCHOOLS

A scale of wages for District school teachers, ranging from basic salaries of $1,200 to $2,500 annually, up to a maximum of $1,500 to $4,000 for the different groups, has been recommended by the Board of Trade.

Adoption of the scale by Congress will be urged immediately.

Under the proposed plan, kindergarten assistants will receive a basic wage of $1,200 a year with an annual increase of $50 for six years making a maximum salary of $1,500 a year. The present wage received by kindergarten teachers ranges from $750 to $850 a year.

Increases to Be General. Kindergarten principals and teachers in the first, second, third, and fourth grades should receive a basic salary of $1,400 a year; and an annual increase of $50 for six years, allowing a maximum salary of $1,700 yearly.

The report recommends that fifth and sixth grade teachers be given a basic salary of $1,400 a year, with annual advancements of $50 for eight years. This allows a maximum salary of $1,800 a year.

Seventh and eighth grade instructors are recommended for a basic annual salary of $1,400. A yearly increase of $50 for ten years is asked for these grades, with a maximum annual salary of $1,900.

$1,500 High School Minimum. High school teachers should be given a basic wage of $1,500, with an annual increase of $100 for ten years, states the report. This would permit a maximum salary of $2,500. "Group B" teachers in the high school, classified under the "splendid fitness" head, are recommended for a basic wage of $2,500 a year, and an annual increase of $100 for five years, permitting a maximum salary of $3,000.

A wage of $3,000 a year is asked for assistant high school principals, while principals, the report states, should be granted $3,500 a year.

A salary of $4,000 a year is asked for the principal of Central.

MONTH-OLD BODY OF WOMAN IN WOOD

HACKENSACK, N. J., Jan. 27.—The gruesome discovery, by two raccoon hunters, of the partly decomposed body of a woman, richly dressed and evidently a person of some culture and refinement, is today engaging the authorities of Bergen county. The body was found on the edge of the Palisades, in the region known as Englewood Cliffs, yesterday morning. The authorities believe the woman had been dead for a month.

Tied to the nose of the corpse, the right hand of which had evidently been gnawed away by some rodent, was a bottle which is believed to have contained some deadly anesthetic.

Wadded in Place. The empty bottle was secured to the nostrils by strips of linen cloth, while around the face, as though to make suffocation sure, was a mass of cotton wadding, held in place by a finely woven woolen undershirt.

No marks of identification could be found on the dead woman's person, her clothing, nor in the leather handbag which was found fifty feet away. In this bag were found a solid gold powder case, a gold rouge holder on a thin gold chain, $15.03 in money and the stub of a theater ticket for a performance on December 17.

Clad in Fur Coat. The corpse, clad in an expensive fur coat, a blue serge suit of fine quality, embroidered crepe de chine shirt waist, embroidered silk underwear, and woolen stockings of the kind worn by persons who take long walks, lay on a ledge of rocks about twenty feet below the top of the Palisades.

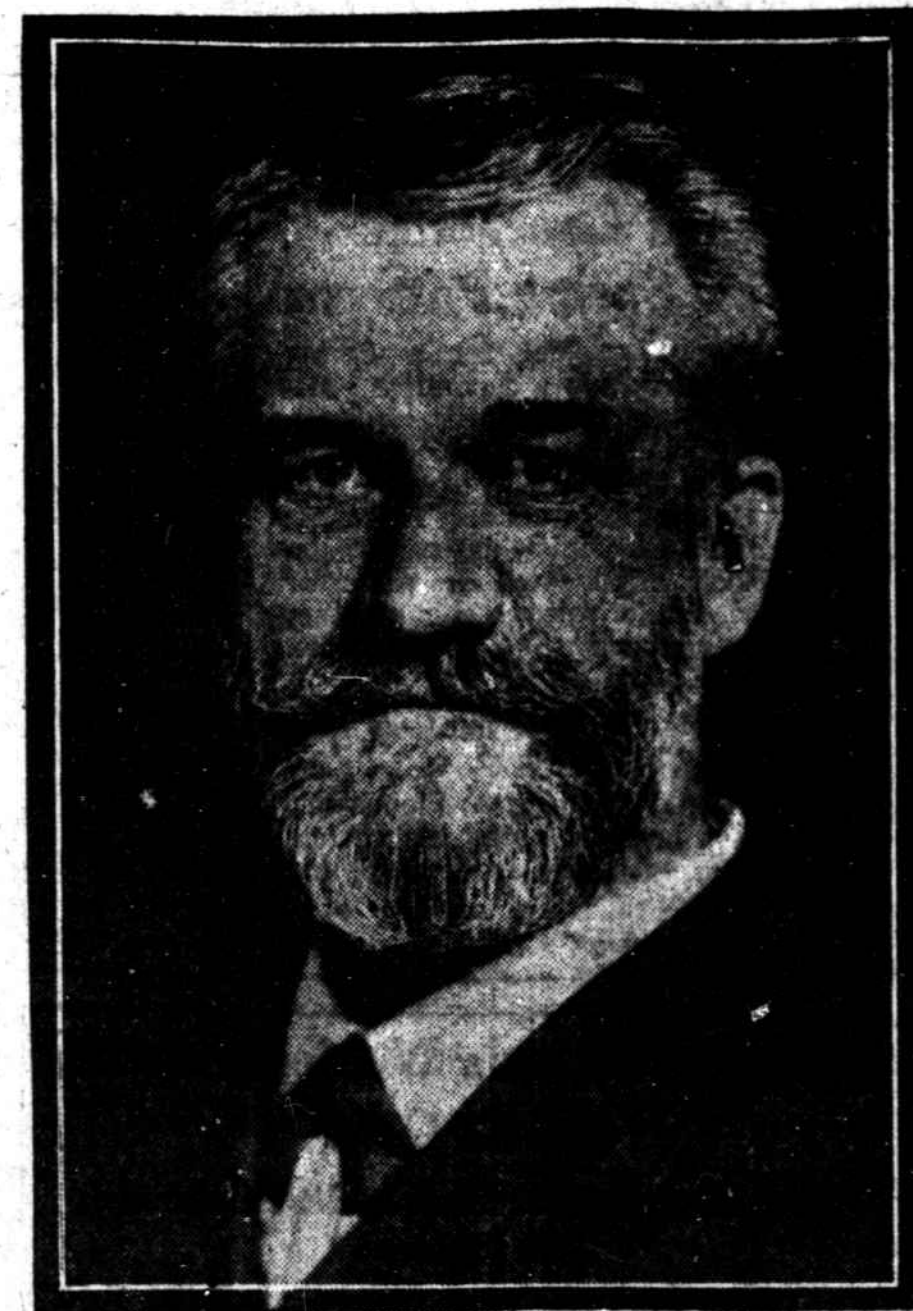

The dead woman was probably between twenty-one and twenty-three years of age, well nourished, carefully manicured, with a wealth of dark auburn hair.

Prosecutor Hucksins, of Bergen county, believed the woman committed suicide.

WHO IS THE OLDEST WORKER FOR UNCLE SAM?—No. 9

GEORGE S. CLENDANIEL.

Seventy-five years old, of 10 Tenth street southeast, who has been in the Government service for fifty-three years. He was appointed a clerk in the pay office at the Washington Navy Yard on May 6, 1866, at a salary of $750 yearly. Today Mr. Clendaniel is a clerk in the disbursing office at the Navy Yard at a yearly salary of $1,900.

Mr. Clendaniel was born in 1844. He was appointed a clerk during President Johnson's Administration and has seen the inauguration of every President since that time. Before his appointment in the Navy Yard he had eleven months' service in the field during the civil war.

Editor's note—Is Congress going to allow another session to pass without making provisions for the retirement of aged Government employees? The gentlemen on Capitol Hill surely can't ignore the veteran Federal workers much longer. Why not act now? Fair and reasonable treatment is all the workers ask. Congress can't afford to give them less.

TRY OUT FARE BOX; VOTE IT BIG SUCCESS

The first of the new fare boxes on Washington street cars today are in the experimental stage. "An unqualified success" is the preliminary verdict of patrons, street car men, and railway officials alike, in regard to the new boxes, which register the coins as they are dropped in. The conductor merely makes change and is not allowed to touch the fares. Conductors are glad because unfair suspicion which has been directed against most of them on account of the dishonesty of a few is now reduced to a minimum.

Patrons are glad, because they know the fares they pay all go to the company now.

Railway officials are glad, because they know the company will get every nickel belonging to it when the boxes are installed on all cars.

The lines on which the new boxes were installed yesterday are the H street line of the Washington Railway and Electric Company and the Georgetown and Pennsylvania avenue southeast line, of the Capital Traction Company.

FARMERS NEED AID, HOOVER DECLARES

PARIS, Jan. 27.—Herbert Hoover, United States food administrator and director general of the international relief organization, has given out the following statement:

"The dominating food problem in the United States at this moment is a very much bigger problem than the Chicago packers. It is a problem of the American farmer.

"If the packers' profit of 2 or 3 per cent on his turnover is too high, it is the duty of Congress to tax it out of him. If the farmer's prices threaten to fall below the level of a fair return, it behooves the country to do some quick, clear thinking.

"The perplexities arising out of inability to demobilize totally the food situation of the world in the period between the armistice and peace make the farmers' position in the matter of much more immediate concern than the future of the Chicago packers.

Armistice Changed Situation. "Taking it broadly, before the European war began we exported about 5,000,000 tons of food a year. This year we are prepared to export at the rate of from fifteen to twenty millions of tons. The increase represents the patriotic service of the American farmer, plus the voluntary sacrifice of the average American under the stimulation of the pleas from the allied governments to test without an enormous increase in our food supplies their very lives would be menaced.

"The submarine had so shortened the world's shipping that the allies were unable to reach the distant markets of the Southern Hemisphere, and we were bound to create in America sufficient food to carry Europe. If the war had gone on, every pound of it and more would have been required by the allies before next harvest.

"The armistice came suddenly, freeing shipping from military use and reopening to the allies the cheaper Southern Hemisphere and the colonial markets, where, in addition, they could have more liberal credits and markets for their manufactures.

Immediate Problem Serious. "We are thus faced with a serious problem with respect to our own great supplies, patriotically accumulated.

3 Billion Meals Eaten By Doughboys During 19 Months of Warfare

At the time of the signing of the armistice, according to War Department statistics, the United States army was eating 10,000,000 pounds of food a day and had 100 times that amount in reserve.

If all transportation had ceased after November 11, the United States army could have lived on its own resources for ninety days. The subsistence division estimated that 3,000,000,000 meals were served to the army during the nineteen months of warfare with Germany, and that on January 1, 1918, the food stores in the United States and its possessions and in transit to France had a value of $300,000,000.

If an early peace is signed and the markets of Europe are opened freely to trade, there will be a greater demand for food from the new months than even this surplus could supply. But in the period between the armistice and peace we have a very difficult situation.

DEFENSE COUNCILS IN TRAFFIC DRIVE

A nation-wide movement tending to prevent as much as possible street accidents resulting from carelessness will be started by the Council of National Defense immediately, it was learned today.

The loss of killed and maimed throughout the country during recent weeks has grown to such an appalling height that means to help reduce these ever-growing casualties must be taken at once, it was stated.

The general adoption by cities and communities of modern principles, embodied in carefully prepared highway traffic regulations, would, the council believes, materially reduce the number of accidents.

Most of the women now are being transferred to special barracks at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., and instructions have been issued to treat them with particular courtesy. Heretofore they have been confined in various institutions about the country. None has been in jail.
